THE Acting Governor was not very felicitous in his remarks at Wednesday's Council meeting on the Bokhara Rocks and the proposed new ball-room at Government House. His Excellency gave several reasons why he had not thought it right to direct the attempt to blast the Bokhara Rocks proposed by Colonel BEAUMONT to be proceeded with, one of them being the fact that the Colony was at present committed to several other projects involving expenditure, amongst them being a new ball-room for Government House. Now if it were a simple matter of choice between removing the Bokhara Rocks and building a new ball-room at Government

House the decision should unhesitatingly be in favour of removing the rocks. These constitute a serious obstacle to navigation, a vessels entering the harbour from the north at night or in foggy or hazy weather, when it is not easy to judge distances, will los time rather than run the risk of sharing the fate of the vessel after which the rocks are named. The ball-room, on the other hand, is a luxury that under pressure of necessity might be postponed for a few years. The accommodation at Government House. undoubtedly insufficient for entertaining on a scale commensurate with the dig nity of the Governor's office, and the finances of the Colony being in a fairly flourishing state the proposed expenditure on a new ball-room was generally approved. mains for any gentlemen present to say what The original estimate for the ball-room was $25,000. It has now been increased to $40,000. We do not know that there is any what we are here for P complaint to be made even of the increased expenditure, but we do think there is very appeared in the papers calling us together to good ground of complaint that the original estimate should have been so far from accurate. Before votes are asked for public works the estimates of cost ought to be prepared with proper care, so that the Council listen to. I imagine that when a committee and the public should know approximately convenes a meeting, it ought to be able to tell what the real cost will be. The system of asking for a smaller amount than is required and then when the Colony is committed to the work notifying that it is intended to spend more than has been asked for is extremely objectionable. The error in this case has arisen presumably from some simple [a28] departmental mistake, but mistakes of such meeting, two days ago, the secretary read a kind ought not to be allowed to occur. In proposing that a new ball-room should be built the Governor was, as the Acting Governor remarked on Wednesday, considering the interests of the public rather than his own for if the work is to be prolonged into next year, as intimated, Sir WILLIAM We invite attention to the following old landed | DES VŒUX will only be able to use it for two seasons before his term expires, while next winter he will have the discomfort of

THE VISIT OF THE DUKE AND DUCHESS OF CONNAUGHT.

THE ADJOURNED PUBLIC MEETING. The adjourned meeting to consider the programme for the reception of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught on their forthcoming visit to the Colony, took place in the City Hall vesterday afternoon, Hon. P. Ryrie presiding. The attendance was rather smaller than at the last meeting, about twenty persons only being

The SECRETARY having read the notice convening the meeting, and the minutes of the previous meeting. The CHAIRMAN said-You have heard the notice calling this meeting. The last meeting was adjourned that we might have a larger number of the community present than there were then, but the object of calling a second meeting seems to have fizzled out, as this meeting is smaller than the one before. The Committee have had their say in the matter and it now rethey have to say.

Mr. FRASER SMITH-Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen. I should very much like to know

The CHAIRMAN-I don't know. Mr. FRASER SMITH-A notice has, I believe, discuss the programme for the reception of the Duke of Connaught. So far as I can understand everything has been decided. The programme has been submitted and approved. I should like to know, therefore, what the enthusiastic community of Hongkong have been brought here to us for what purpose we are asked to attend. The CHAIRMAN-I can only say, as I ex plained at the last meeting, paragraphs have appeared in the public prints-not in the one

Naturally one would have supposed that some member of the Committee, the Chair meeting, representing, although perhaps to a li mited extent, the community of Hongkong, whether it did or did not approve of what had been done or was proposed to be done. Mr. Humphbeys-Sir. I have pleasure in seconding that motion. I think that all we wanted to point out was that when we are expacted to contribute to these festivites, our consent should be asked first. We have no wish to retard or in any way to alter anything you have done, but I think on future occasions i Sir William Des Voux, shortly before would be better if these meetings were called the work being done first and then the approval being asked of the people who are expected to pay for it. I think that has been proved in the past. I think it must be within the recollection of everyone here that most of us contribute freely and generously to every public effort in the place, and I think that the people who do. so should be asked at all events-I don't suppose many of us want any say in the matter, the majority would rather pay their money and not | We be troubled-but I think the compliment might be paid of asking those who find the money is they would care to express any opinion as to the disposition of it (Applause). I have pleasure in seconding Mr. Francis's motion, and I only hope everyone in the colony will exert himself to the recention when he comes. The CHAIRMAN-I only wish to point o that Mr. Humphreys has laid special stress of Commerce to-represent the special interests calling the public together and asking their of the junk trade, and with the Harbour opinion. From what we have seen of it this is a complete failure I think the people are per feetly satisfied with what is being done. > POLICE COURT. 7th March.

BEFORE MR. H. E. WODEHOUSE. THE EMBEZZLEMENT BY A BANK CASHIE ... John St. Ronald Scollay Gray, 26, clerk, of the New Oriental Bank, was charged with embezzling, on the 5th inst., the sum of $3,400 and also the sum of $25,600, the property of the Bank.

Mr. Wotton appeared for the prosecution. Mr. Wotton said the defendant was a clerk accountant, and cashier in the New Oriental Back and had been there for about three years. He was in a position of trust and in a great measure had the control of the books and a portion of the cash. He was an officer in whom great trust was necessarily placed and it would be expected from him that there would be no breach of that, trust. On the previous day it came to the knewledge of the manager that defendant had embezzled two sums of money, $3,400 and $25.600. The information was laid and a warrant issued and defendant was arrested. He proposed to put Mr. Herbert, the manager, into the box to give evidence in support of these statements. Shortly after this, Mr. Pollook came into Court and said he had been justructed to appear for the defendant and would ask for a remand. His Worship said he would take Mr. Herbert's evidence and reserve to Mr. Pollock the right to cross-examine when he was prepared to do so. A DEFENCE OF PLAGIARISM.

Mr. Edmund Gosse writes in the St. James's Gazette:-It is with a mixture of admiration and regret that I have read my friend Mrs. -Hodgson-Burnett's letter in St. James's Gazette. I believe I was one of those who, as she says, "congratulated" her on her entire silence. What may have induced her to cross from the golden into the silver sphere, I do not know; wisdom. But she has spoken, and you have-

Of course I shrinks From bloodshed, ma'am, as you're aware But still they'd better most, I thinks. The duel has come off, and we may all feel

But there is, to the student of literature, a serious side to these intolerable charges of plagiarism which are, over and anon, being fired off from behind bushes at our leading imaginative writers. I am sorry that Mrs. Hodgson Burnett did not read, or remember reading, this novelette, which I, for one, am not prepared to go on advertising by naming. It is a magnificent opground after reading it. If these two letters were portunity lost. Mrs. Burnett has always been remarkably happy in boldly turning the tables on her foes, and if she only could have said truth fully that she recollected the little volume in question, and its plot, she would have been in a position to strike a blow for the privileges of fiction. But I lament to notice that she lowers her flag, that flag that was never struck before. She rebuts the charge of being indebted to another writer for "ideas," and in so doing she tacitly acher spirited reply. May an author who is not so fortunate as to be a writer of fiction say for the novelists what were ready and there was water to flush the delivered, but the probability was that if it was they seem to feel a delicacy in saying for theminvited to draw up a code of instructions for the closets he did not see why any one who chose written it was delivered. On the other hand, on selves—namely, that there can be no property the 30th October defendant stated that he told in literary "ideas"? What gives its value to On the motion of 3:r. The story did not yet exist. truthfully say this; but she has no recollection of having read the book of the lady who accuses her; and that no substantial resemblance exists even in the skeleton, the necessary framework of "ideas." But none the less do I regret that this should be the case. A splendid chance has

The multiplicity of works of fiction must very limited as those possible to the human body. It is much better to face the difficulty boldly than to enter into recriminating discussion of whether such and such a book has or has not been seen or read. "A Sentimental Journey" does not continue to be admired because it gives information about continental travel: the value of "Rob Roy" is absolutely unconnected with the facts it supplies about Scottish-life. Every week young ladies publish works that are simply crowded with "incidents" and "ideas;" they have an existence briefer than the mayfly's: while "Emma," absolutely devoid of all support from such framework, lives for ever. The only chance the great nevelists of the future have is to defy this empty charge of plagiarism. They cannot pick a flower or throw a stone without the certainty that myriads have done the same before them. But execution, the peculiar way in which an old stock situation is treated in "Kidnapped" or in "The Trumpet-Major."that is beyond plagiarism. It is gold in Mr. Stevenson's or in Mr Hardy's pooket; but he who steals it finds what he has stolen turned to trash. So that style must be the final and the only standard of originality. If a man or a woman is charged with plagiarising the only answer is to turn the tables on the accuser, and laim to have it decided whether the alleged theft lives as literature or no. The only tribunal which the novelists ought to recogize is that of The verdict may prove unfavourable. if there is no rain to execution.
